Objective

To implement an urban forest ecology walking tour to provide an opportunity for individuals to learn about the Model Forest Program and become aware of why and how they should become involved.

Description

The first Balsam Fir Urban Forest Ecology Tours program was delivered to the general public and students during the summer and fall months of 1999. The program was repeated during the summer and fall months of 2000-2002.

The tours were conducted in the Partici-Park and along the Margaret Bowater Park - Corner Brook Stream Trail Network. All aspects of the tour coordination and management were the responsibility of the contractor. Although significant promotion and public relations was undertaken by the contractor(s), the tour's success centered around the educational system with significant numbers of students availing of the tour during September and October. Student numbers have increased each year to approximately 1200 during the 2002 year. Feedback on the tour is very positive. Interest from the general public and groups outside the educational system increased this past year as well.
